LIVELY MEETING OF THE GROUND AND BUILDINGS COMMITTEE.

Mr. De Priest the Cause-The "Waig"
Editorial-A General Quarrel in Meeting.

A lively war of words took place at a called meeting of the Grounds and Buildings Committee yesterday afternoon. Messrs. Kendall (chairman), Sneed, Pizzini, and Sullivan were present. After some uninteresting business had been disposed of, Mr. Pizzini produced a copy of the Whig from his pocket and said: "Mr. Chairman, I find in the Whig of to-day what purports to be a statement of the proceedings of the committee at the last meeting Monday night." He then read the following from the editorial columns:

"When Mr. Sneed remarked that the keepers of the city parks had sometimes to take care of horses, and he did not see why any exception should be made in this case, the Friend remarked that he had never seen a horse on any one hand, and when he handed in his application for a horse, he was told that he must perform any manual labor." To that remark Mr. Sneed promptly replied that only one horse was ever seen on any one hand, and that the committee, though he often thinks he is not, was not a committee of horse keepers, but evidently the chairman of the committee, Mr.

"Now," said Mr. Pizzini, "I want to know if that statement was made about me. If any man says that I exercise an undue influence in the committee, or says I think I am chairman of the committee he lies—he tells what is false. Did you make that statement, Mr. Sneed?"

"I did not," was the reply of the person addressed. "I remember when Mr. De Priest spoke of having been promised not to have manual labor to do at all times, Ochsman said—" have promised you that, and he is not the committee, even if at any time he supposes he is.' But I did not mention any name, and there is nothing to warrant your talking to me in the way you have.

"Well," replied Mr. Snead, "you came before the committee at a certain time when the pay of De Priest was in question, and you said you could not move for a reconsideration of the vote, and therefore Mr. Sullivan made the motion. At the last meeting you did move for a reconsideration. I don't but if you can't move a reconsideration at one time, how could you at another?"

INFORMATION WANTED.

Mr. Pizzini, in answer, said Mr. Sullivan had thought De Priest was illegally elected, and therefore moved for a reconsideration because he wanted the

WHO OVERRIDES?

"I don't override the committee," retorted Mr. Pizzini; "the committee

"You haven't any vote here, anyhow," said Mr. Snead. "You are simply an ex-officio member without vote. As chairman of the Finance Committee you are not entitled to vote."

the two on this point, after which Mr. Pizzini said: "With all due respect to you, Mr. Sneed, I think you occupy a very delicate position. Were not you the one to urge the election of a park-keeper?"

TINKERING AND SPITTING.
"Ah, excuse me," said Mr. Pizzini.
"But Colonel Cutshaw said there was $1,000 to the credit of the committee or else I would not have been in favor of it."

Mr. Kendler here spoke. "Mr. Sneed," said he, "has been tinkering and spitting at me for some time because I voted for De Priest. He seems to think that Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Pizzini and I connived together to pull of the purest motives. You do not tinker at me in the committee, but outside. I never received such chastisement in my life, and I am not going to stand it. If you have got anything against me I wish you would say so."

THE PROMISE.

"I wish it distinctly understood," said Mr. Pizzini, "that I never promised Mr. De Priest he should not have any work to do."

Before the meeting adjourned Mr.

Pizzini observed that that as Mr. Sneed had not stated what the Whig said, of course his remarks did not apply to him, and he meant no reflection by them.
